

Dean Jobin-Bevans

Dean Jobin-Bevans received his musical education at the University of Toronto where he obtained a degree in History and Literature of Music, and at McGill University where he completed both a master's and doctorate degree in choral conducting. Until August 2005, Dr. Jobin-Bevans was the Director of the McGill Conservatory of Music where he taught and coached voice. In September 2005 he joined the faculty in the Music Department at Lakehead University. Research interests include the music of the English Reformation, the choral music of Benjamin Britten, and music intervention in long term care.